* Progressives – individuals who believed that industrialization and urbanization had created social, economic and political problems.

* Progressives intended to use government to bring about reform.
ECONOMIC REFORM
* Muckrakers – journalists who wrote about the need for reform in magazines, books and newspapers
A NAUSEATING JOB, BUT IT MUST BE DONE

President Roosevelt takes hold of the investigating muck-rake himself in the parking-house scandal.
In 1906, author Upton Sinclair wrote “The Jungle”.

In “The Jungle”, Sinclair describes the horrific conditions of workers in a Chicago meat-processing plant.

Outrage however ensued over the unsanitary conditions of the stockyard.

As a result, the US government passed the Meat Inspection Act and the Pure Food and Drug Act to improve safety of edible products.
Ida Tarbell – famous muckraker who wrote about the unfair business practices of Rockefeller’s Standard Oil Trust

Her book The History of Standard Oil highlighted the economic injustices of trusts and monopolies.
Social Reform
Settlement Houses – community centers that provided services to urban poor.

Jane Addams – In 1889, she opened her own settlement house in Chicago called the “Hull House”.

Hull House provided educational opportunities, job training and child-care for poor women and their children.

In 1890, Jacob Riis published “How the Other Half Lives”.

Book contained photographs of the despicable living conditions of urban poor forced to live in crowded tenements.

Brought reform to many of urban America’s poorest neighborhoods.
After federal troops were removed from the South in 1877, Southern governments seized the opportunity to again deny blacks their Constitutional rights.

They instituted “Jim Crow Laws” – system of laws designed to deny suffrage rights for blacks and to segregate (“keep apart”) blacks and whites.

Named after a famous character from minstrel shows named Jim Crow; whites dressed in “black face” to mock and make fun of African Americans.
Jim Crow laws worked to prevent blacks from fulfilling the right given to them by the 15th amendment in several ways:

1. poll taxes: blacks were forced to pay a tax in order to vote.
2. literacy tests: blacks were forced to pass a reading test before they could vote.
3. grandfather clauses: only citizens whose grandfathers were allowed to vote could themselves vote.
The Jim Crows South instituted a system of racial segregation.

Blacks and whites had separate restaurants, theaters, schools, park benches, railroad cars, hospitals, etc.

In 1896, the Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the Jim Crow Laws in its Plessy v. Ferguson decision.

Plessy v. Ferguson established the precedent of “separate but equal” facilities for whites and blacks.
In 1909, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is formed to fight for social and economic rights of African Americans.

NAACP was made up of whites and blacks calling for an end to racial discrimination in not only the Jim Crow South, but all around the nation.

Members also sought to highlight the terror of lynching that was sweeping through the South.
POLITICAL REFORM
A series of legislation passed during the Progressive Era gave voters more say in how government operated.

- Initiative – gave people the power to propose a new law through petition
- Referendum – allowed citizens to approve or reject laws passed by Congress
- Recall – gave voters the ability to remove corrupt public servants from office before their term ended
- Prior to 1913, US Senators were appointed by state legislatures. However when the 17th amendment is ratified, voters began directly electing US Senators themselves.
Theodore Roosevelt – President of the US (1901-1909)
Roosevelt created the National Park System that set aside millions of acres of wilderness areas to protect American wildlife and forests.
This system of “conservation” sought to limit industrial influence on the natural landscape.
